Mortenson Center Associates Program Scholarship: Description and Application Guidelines

Funding for Program Participation

The Mortenson Center for International Library Programs is delighted to offer professional development funding to support 3 individuals who would otherwise be unable to participate in the Associates' Program due to financial constraints. The three scholarships cover the $4,000 program fee. The grant recipient will be responsible for paying all other associated costs (e.g., airfare, visa fees, meals and other personal costs). Scholarship applications are welcomed from library and information science (LIS) professionals who are residents of under-represented countries of Associates participation, from low- and middle-income countries and/or members of historically underrepresented and marginalized communities from countries outside of the United States.

To determine your eligibility, please review the specific requirements outlined below and complete the form. All sections of the application form should be completed and submitted to mortenson@illinois.edu by the deadline of 9th December 2024.

Eligibility Criteria

1. Admission to the 2025 Mortenson Center Associates Program
2. Demonstrated financial need.
3. Ability to pay all other associated costs (airfare, visa fees, meals and other personal costs)
4. Commitment to learning, applying and sharing their new knowledge and skills to enhance their institutions, the LIS field, and/or professional practice.
5. Demonstrated and/or potential leadership and innovation in their workplace and/or the LIS field in their local context.
6. Professional readiness, work ethic and promise based on 2 reference letters (one which has been submitted with the Program application, and a second one for the grant application from a different recommender (supervisor/dean/director/professional mentor).

Application Materials
